M'KINLEY MAKES A SPEECH

He Receives the Returning Canton Delegation at His Home.

CITY TAKES A HOLIDAY

Bome of the Candidate Surrounded by Cheering Thousands-Women Join in the Celebration-New York McKinley League There-Miller Promises the State,

Canton, Ohio, June 19.-Shortly after noon preparations began making for the reception of the returning Cantonese, and the neighboring houses began filling up with residents of the city. Market street, on which the McKinley residence stands, on which the McKinley residence stands, is the site of numerous handsome residences surrounded by widespreading green lawns. These, with the gay decorations, which were not confined to the houses alone, but covered the grounds as weil, made a brilliant and attractive scene, heightened by the bright dresses of scores of Canton's beautiful women and girls.

The McKinley house was a busy place in a quict way. A stream of callers, mostly residents of the surrounding country, de-residents of the surrounding country, demanded the major's frequent presence on the porch for a handshake. The intervals he spent in conversation with a few friends in the library, varied by frequent visits to the parior, where Mrs. McKinley and a party of lady friends spent the day.

OFFICE-SEEKER ON HAND. Incidents more of less interesting were not wanting, as for instance the arrival of J. W. Smith, a colored man, of Ohio, who insisted upon seeing the major to present in person an application for a position. He failed to see him, however. There was an mexpected delay in the ar-rival of the train and it was after 6 o'clock when the music of the band announced the approach of the delegation. As they came up one street, a delegation from Trumbull and Mahoning counties marched up a parallel street, and they simultaneously entered the yard, front and rear, completely filling it. All that time the adjoining streets were jammed, fully ten thousand people being within sight of the bouse. Major Mc-Kinley received the triumphant pilgrims under the trees in the side yard and received from them such a tribute as seldom falls to the lot of man. It was a memo-rable scene. Standing bare-headed just rable scene. Standing bare-headed just at the corner of the house, Mrs. McKinley sitting in a window behind him, from which she could see and hear all that occurred. was the friend and neighbor of the excited and enthusiastic throng, the center of interest of a whole nation, pale but out-wardly composed, save for a glistening of the eye that would not be repressed, listening first to the cheers of the assembled thousands, and then to expressions of re-gard, respect, esteem and affection which must have been sweeter far to his ears than even the announcement of the fact which was the occasion for the demonstra

ROSES FOR MRS. MCKINLEY. He was followed by Judge Baldwin of Canton and then by Judge Bay, who on behalf of the ladies of Richmond, Ind., where the delegates took dinner this morning, and held the first McKinley meeting in that State, presented a box of roses to the major for his wife.

MORE

As Major McKinley mounted thedry goods box, serving as a rostrum for the first time, it was plainly seen that he was deeply moved and the renewed hurrains from thousands of and the renewed harrons from thousands of throats which greeted his appearance was not calculated to compose him. But, summoning that wonderful mastery over his emotions which has marked him at all periods in his career, he was able to so far control himself as to be able to speak. He soil!

"I have had a good many touching incidents in my life. Yesterday immediately after the nomination I was surrounded by my neighbors and fellow citizens who did not go to St. Louis, and friends from Massillon and Alliance, and then came more of them from the city of Akron last night. With all these tokens I was deeply and profoundly impressed, but somehow the words spoken by these contlemen our words spoken by these gentlemen, surrounded as I am by their associates who journeyed to St. Louis, somehow they have touched me deeply and have sounded the depths of my heart more profoundly than anything that has gone before. A large body of my fellow citizens are here from Trumbull county, the place of my birth.

"And themsround me are the latter friends—for from Mahoning county I came to Stark, nearly thirty years ago. You have all been my friends ever since. And the good people of Trumbull county, and the good people of Mahoning, and those of that old Mahoning Valley, and the Western Reserve, which was so long represented in the national House by Giddings and Wade.

NEW YORKERS WERE THERE. NEW YORKERS WERE THERE.
While this neighborhood reception and reunion was in pregress the front yard had been invaded by the victorious host of the McKinley League of New Yerk, including the seventeen McKinley delegates from that State. Their train was held at the station for the call to be made, and as time was precious, McKinley hurried through the house, and on the front porch faced the two hundred eager-faced New Yorkers, who split the air with yells as he came through the door.

Lacey and Got Locked Up.

Ellsworth Banks, colored, was arrested yesterday atternoon by Policeman Owens for an assault upon Mrs. Elizabeth Lacey, an elderly white woman, who resides at No. 2015 Fighth street northwest. Banks is employed in the capacity of a backster by Mrs. Lacey's son, George.

The negro was at work yesterday in the stable at the rear of the above number, when Mrs. Lacey, who is about seventy-six years of age, had an occasion to go out into the yard. Banks immediately accused the woman of coming out to keep a watch on him. He clutched the old lady's arms and twisted them cruelly. Seizing a brick he made ready to hurfit at his victim, when another colored man who happened to be in the place knocked it from his hand. Banks made a wild rush for Mrs. Lacey, but she escaped by remaing into the house.

TELLER WILL TAKE A REST

Talks of His Regrets on Leaving the Kepubican Party.

Was Greatly Affected by the Kind Wordsof Senator Lodge-Will Do Missionary Work for Silver.

St. Louis. June 19,-Senator Teller of Colorado feels the need of a rest after his exacting duties of the past fortnight. In pursuance of this purpose be will leave tomorrow for Fuiton, Ill., near which place his aged mother is residing. There he will spend a week or more. He will make the trip by water to avoid the fatigue of railway travel.

It is his intention to participate actively in the campaign after the Chicago convention shall bave made its nominations and the issues between the two parties are fairly joined. It is doubtful if he will come East. He believes that the great middle-west offers a promising field for missionary work, and it is in that region that he will be most generally employed. His with-drawal from the Republican party, with which he has been identified for more than serious step he has ever taken. He realizes fully its responsibility and yet he does not see how he could have acted differently, holding financial views so diametrically opposed to those which the party has adopted.

And yet the sundering of these political ties was not without its compensations. Its compensations were found in the flattering personal tributes which were paid to him by his former kepublican associates at the meeting on Wednesday last of the committee on resolutions. Especially gratifying were the remarks of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. Speaking with a United Press reporter this morning, Mr. Teller said:

"While my relations with Lodge have always been pleasant they have not been intimate. When I finished my speech in the committee room announcing my intended withdrawal from the convention and Lodge arose to reply, I anticipated a severe criticism from him and others present.

"To my surprise Lodge spoke with great feeling and in a manner so friendly to my-self that I was greatly affected by it. You know how well Lodge can talk? Well, I never heard him talk more eloquently, for no one possesses the faculty of saying pleasant things better than he. There were others who followed in a similar as ain, and I can't begin to express how dealy I was touched by all that he said."

He was elected by the unanimous vote of the committee. Mr. Hanna accepted the nomination in a short speech that was received with app Mr. Hanna said:

MR. HANNA'S SPEECH. "I certainly appreciate the compliment and the confidence which goes with it, in offering me this position, which, under ordinary circumstances, I should be compelied to decline, but under the present condition of affairs, my loyalty and my love for our candidate induces me to go one step farther and see the consumnation of this great victory for the Republican party. in the present campaign was arduous, but its conduct was in accordance with strict business integrity, bonor and fair dealing I wish to say further to this committee that if Major McKinley is elected President of the United States he will be elected owing no man a fromise that will embarrass his administration. What he owes only to his country, and what he will do will be for the welfare of the Republican party.

"If a pure life, patriotic motives and firm determination to do his duty will make his administration a success, the United States will have occasion to thank God for the nomination made in yester-day's convention." (Applause.)

MANLEY MADE SECRETARY. Mr. Manley was made temporary sec-retary and James F. Barke, of Pittsburg, temporary assistant secretary. Col. Swords, of Iowa, the sergesul-at-arms of the old committee, was kept in that position temporarily. It was agreed that Chair-man Hanna should have full authority to select all the officers of the committee, including the treasurer, which office was not even filled temporarily: At the in-stance of Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, the following resolution was unanimously agreed to:
"Resolved, That the chairman of this committee is hereby authorized and empowered, after consultation with the candidates for President and Vice President, to appoint an executive committee of nine numbers, who may or may not be members nembers, who may or may not be members of this committee, and that the chairman exofficio of the said executive committee."

Mr. W. H. Andrews acted as proxy for Senator Quay, who early this morning left for the East. No successor was elected to take the place of Mr. Hobart, of New Jersey, who was the nominee for the second place on the ticket. The committee

Rev. Joseph Specht of Alexandria Hotly Pursued to Kentucky.

Girl Is Lena Turner, 16, and They Decamped From Richmond-Police Notified.

(Special to The Times.)

Louisville, Ky., June 19.-Rev. Joseph Specht, a young Episcopal minister from Alexandria, Va., and Miss Lena Turner, daughter of one of the wealthiest citizens of Madison county, cloped from Richmond yesterday morning. The wires have been kept hot with messages to the police in different cities, but so far without result.

Miss Turner is not much over sixteen and her sister, Mrs. W. R. Loke, and Ambrose Dudley, Congressman McCreary's private secretary, followed her to Lexington.

Mr. Specht saw Mrs. Loke first and he and Miss Turner managed to slip by unnoticed and took a train presumably for this city, but after it had gone a few miles they got off.

It is supposed that they took a buggy at Nicholasville tonight and drove north with the intention of crossing the river in the morning and getting married in Olito, as they left the train near there.

Police met the train on its arrival in Louisville late tonight, having a telegraphic order of arrest. Miss Turner will come into possession of a large fortune when she attains her majority.

The Mr. Specht referred to in the above dispatch is a student at the Theological Seninary near Alexandria, and a son of Joseph Specht, the owner of the famous Gunston Hall. He has not yet completed

Gen. Gomez Wins a Splendid

SPANIARDS' LOSS 1.000

insurgent Cavalry Made a Sudden Attack on the Troops-Even the Official Reports Admit a Serious Engagement-Timely Arrival of Reinforcements Prevented Utter Rout.

Havana, June 17 -via Tampa, Fla., June 19.—The event of the week has been Gomez's splendid victory at Najasa, Paerto Principe.

The details received so far are meager, the best report received here up to the present being Vareins' correspondence, published in La Discussion, the best in-published in La Discussion, the best informed independent paper in Havana.

He says that Gen. Jaminez Castellanos left Puerto Principe on the 8th with 2,114 men. 342 horses, five mounted pieces of artillery and a section for same. On the 9th they encamped at a cattle ranch named Saratoga, after exchanging random shots with rebel skirmishers.

About 4 o'clock p. m., the attack commenced by a charge of 1,000 rebel cavalrymen, with machetes, which the Spaniards admit was made with great decision. From that moment until the morning of the 11th the insurgents continued harrissing the troops, killing and wounding many. The story of Gen. Castellanos, who commanded the Spag ards, is that the Culwa charges were repelled either by artillery fire orby forming the famous hollow squares, which the Spaniards consider unbreakable.

FIGURES ON REBEL LOSSES.

FIGURES ON REBEL LOSSES.

Vareia also states that the Spanish troops fired 50,000 cartridges and 30 shells, and the rebels 25,000 shots. Naturally be figures the rebel losses from 460 to 500, and the Spaniards at 35, of which only more or less, including two officers, but he candidly confesses he has not been able to obtain information of the number of horses or pack mules killed or wounded.

From other reliable sources—although in-complete and lacking important details— it is known that Gomez has only 1,500 men. It was known in the city that Gomez was encamped at Najasa with that number of men. In the first charge the Spaniards ad-ing that there was only one thousand. Then men. In the first charge the Spaniards adint that there was only one thousand. Then the Spaniards increased it to 5.000.

Gen. Castellanos' ferces amounted to 3.
100 men. according to this version, which is about accurate—for no Spanish general, even less Castellanos, who is an old warrior and and ws Gomez's way of fighting—would march at the head of 1.100 men to attack such a formidable opponent.

GOMEZ MAKES THE ATTACK.

Gomez knowing of his rival's approven placed his men in convenient positions, dividing his forces in small groups of 300 men each. As soon as the Spaniards were men each. As soon as the spanning were comfortably encamped in the ranch, pre-paring for next day's attack on Gomez's stronghold at Najasa, the Cuban chief sud-denly made his appearance, attacking their positions simultaneously on all sides.

Taken unawares and completely sur-counded, all they could do was to defend he meetres from the continued charges, which, with marvelous military precision, were kept op night and day, without af-fording the Spaniards a moment's rest.

Thanks to Gen. Godoyes' timely arrival with 2,500 men, Castellanos was saved from complete disaster, as undoubtedly be could never have extricated himself from the train in which Gomez had him trap in which Gomez had him. trap in which Gomez had him.

The actual losses on both sides have not been ascertained yet. It is only known that the Spaniards brought with them 3.9 wounded from the field of action, and whether they left any behind is not known. Report has it that the total Spanish loss in killed, wounded and missing was over 1,000.
